Ben Lindorf Accepted into the Association of Corporate Counsel National Capital Region Leadership Academy

ALEXANDRIA, VA (April 2020) – Ben Lindorf, the general counsel and corporate secretary at the Institute for Defense Analyses (IDA), has been accepted into the Association of Corporate Counsel (ACC) National Capital Region (NCR) as a Fellow in the Leadership Academy Class of 2021.

“Ben’s participation in the Academy is an excellent educational and leadership development opportunity,” said IDA President and CEO Norton A. Schwartz. “In addition to the strong curriculum, the professional opportunities and experiences will be invaluable to Ben as he strategically advises IDA on legal and compliance matters.”

According to its website, ACC is a global bar association that promotes the common professional and business interests of in-house counsel through information, education, networking opportunities, and advocacy initiatives. ACC NCR Leadership Academy is a robust, cohort-based leadership development program that takes place over a nine-month period. The curriculum includes simulation, role-play and modeling, collaboration and exchange of best practices, dialogue with experts from an array of fields, case studies, and in-depth class discussions.

“It is a great privilege to be a part of the Leadership Academy Class of 2021,” said Lindorf. “I look forward to embarking on this exciting journey ahead and optimizing my leadership potential as IDA’s in-house counsel.”

With approximately 2,500 members from nearly 900 private-sector organizations, ACC NCR serves the professional needs of in-house counsel in Washington, D.C., the Commonwealth of Virginia, and suburban Maryland.

Lindorf earned his bachelor’s degree in French from Brigham Young University in 1999. He earned his juris doctor degree, with a global law scholar certificate, from Georgetown University in 2003. He is a member of both ACC and the J. Reuben Clark Law Society.

IDA is a nonprofit corporation that operates three Federally Funded Research and Development Centers in the public interest. IDA answers the most challenging U.S. security and science policy questions with objective analysis leveraging extraordinary scientific, technical, and analytic expertise.
